Graphic Designer

About Me

I am a 25-year-old designer living in Bucks, within commuting distance of London. I am currently working at one of the largest TV manufacturers; Vestel UK, headquartered in Turkey. Design is such an important part of my life, I am passionate about clean design, which allows products or information to be understood without distraction; less, but better. Currently I design web and print, including banners, email and carton box design. I also do a small amount of photography; something in which I've developed an interest. I am excited about working within a design team and can't wait to grow as a designer as my career continues. I'm ready for the next step.

Work

2014-present Vestel UK

Vestel UK is part of one of the largest TV manufacturers in Europe; mainly creating unbranded televisions for retailers such as Tesco, Sainsbury's and John Lewis. At Vestel UK my role is mostly focussed on Finlux, a UK online brand, and Sharp Home Appliances. My tasks are to create various online banners, product images (editing and photography), lifestyle images, carton print artwork, adverts, email designs, printed POS and more...

2013 inEvidence

inEvidence is a creative agency that works with global technology brands; creating written and video case studies. Following a successful experience placement in 2012 the majority of my work was ad-hoc InDesign layouts of case studies for various clients, including HP, Honeywell and Nashua. I created icons for Citrix and have also been part of a team which delivered a case study app project for HP, using Adobe Publishing Suite. In addition, I created the branding and materials for a large customer event 'Customer Reference Academy'; web images, badges, agendas, name cards, feedback forms and some large exhibition banners.

2013 Yellow Snow Studio

Yellow Snow Studio is a small animation studio/viral media company based in Teesside. My work with Yellow Snow to date includes logos, t-shirt mock-ups and some branding development work.
